

JOHNSTON IS THE VICTOR

Alabama Gives a Great Victory for Free Coinage.

CLARKE'S DEFEAT OVERWHELMING

Returns by Counties, Showing That Johnston Has 371 Out of 504 Votes in the Convention—Figures That Cannot Be Disputed.

Birmingham, Ala., April 12.—To The Constitution: The state convention will be composed of 504 delegates. We have returns from all the counties complete enough to show the result in all but five, having an aggregate of thirty-four delegates. These returns show that Clarke has carried twelve counties, with eighty-four delegates, and that I have carried forty-nine, having 386 delegates. Two hundred and fifty-three will nominate and I do not see how any can claim the nomination of Mr. Clarke. Should he get every doubtful county and every close county, I would get over 350 delegates.

There will be no prorating, except in possibly one county, as the whole campaign has been made on the idea that either side having a majority in a county convention would take the entire delegation and that prorates are unfair unless general.

We have had a hard contest, but I am satisfied that the democrats of Alabama will close up their ranks now and greatly recruit our strength to meet and overwhelm the allied enemies of democracy in August.

The Advertiser this morning conceded to me 244 delegates, and in this count they did not mention Barbour, Lee, Pike, Tallapoosa, with thirty-eight delegates, and a number of other counties that its own correspondents show I carried.

THE LATEST RETURNS.

As They Come in Johnston's Majority Increases.

Montgomery, Ala., April 12.—(Special.)—The returns today from the democratic primaries held in Alabama yesterday increase Joseph F. Johnston's vote in the state convention to more than double that of his opponent, Mr. Clarke. The estimate wired from here to The Constitution last night was intended to be conservative. Johnston's strength in the convention was placed at 371. Today's returns increase it by sixty, giving Johnston 431 of the 504 votes in the state convention. Two or three other counties will probably report tomorrow in the Johnston column.

The returns show the following results: Counties. Johnston's Majority. Doubt.

Jefferson for Johnston.

In the above returns it will be observed that Jefferson has been placed in the Johnston column. An authoritative telegram at 10 o'clock tonight says:

"Jefferson is close, but for Johnston."

Whether the final count shows that result or not, Johnston will get his county's thirty votes in the state convention, for the reason that when Jefferson's county convention meets next Wednesday and it is apparent that Johnston has been nominated by more than 2 to 1, not counting his home county, a "sound money" delegation will be sent to the state convention with instructions to vote for Johnston.

Good democrats, the delegates in the Jefferson convention could not afford to do anything else, for the reason that it would give the common enemy a chance to say, "Your candidate was repudiated by his own county."

Carried The Advertiser's Beat.

The biggest victory that Johnston has achieved is in this county. He smashed the old ring of state bosses here to smithereens. He has two delegates to one in the Montgomey county convention and at noon today it was announced that the cruelest cut of all was that beat 4, the eastern half of the city, in which The Advertiser is published, and in which almost all of the party leaders live, had gone for Johnston by 54 majority. This is taken to mean that office-getting will cease to be a profession in Alabama.

It is believed that yesterday's primaries brought back into the democratic party many thousands of good democrats who were sore over the enforced domination of party ringmasters and followed after Kolb in 1892 and 1894. The opposition to Johnston insists that it was these votes that brought about his nomination. As a rule, those who returned are farmers and honest, upright men, and they came back to their old party at the invitation of the democratic state executive committee. They are all free coinage men and the gold standard is not their deity. They regret their return, but the party is all the better for their membership and the cause of free coinage is greatly benefited in this state.

The inconsistency of Captain Kolb, Mr. Barbour and other prominent democrats in aggressively working for the nomination of Mr. Clarke, who represents every principle and policy which they affect to deplore, is apparent. What the state convention will do with reference to the money question is doubtful. There is no certainty that a free coinage plank will be adopted. Captain Johnston was supported by many a strong "sound money" man. He could not, for instance, have carried this county without their aid. They voted for him because of his ability, his availability, his splendid work for the party in the past and because he was the anti-ring candidate. They wanted to help shatter the old machine and they did it. It may mean for him that some of his friends will not endeavor to put a free coinage plank in the Alabama platform. It may be that the convention will deal with state issues alone in order to inflict no other wounds on the party. It may need all the votes it can get next August, and every intelligent democrat knows it. A better opinion as to this proposition can be advanced, however, next Wednesday, on which day the county conventions will instruct their delegates.

CONGRATULATING THE CAPTAIN

Telegrams to the Successful Man in the Contest.

Birmingham, Ala., April 12.—(Special.)—Captain Joseph F. Johnston, the next candidate on the democratic ticket, which means the same as election, for the governor of Alabama, has been flooded with telegrams of congratulation since last night on his great victory. Not alone have telegrams been coming from friends and supporters in the state, but also from admirers in other commonwealths. It was a great victory for the democratic principle of free coinage and there are no doubts that when the delegates to the Chicago convention are named free coinage will be the instructions.

The returns received today go to substantiate the news printed by The Constitution this morning. There can hardly be any doubts as to Captain Johnston's success and the only hope of the opposition is on the contest plan, as being pursued by the republicans to get into the republican congress.

Where Money Was Spent.

Captain Johnston lost Jefferson county, so returns point out, though every beat has not been heard from reliably. This can be accounted for by the immense amount of money spent here by the goldbugs. Wall street and the great corporations poured money like water in Jefferson and men who were distributing it left no stone unturned that Captain Johnston should be defeated in his home county. Big there is no chargin to be noticed, for the simple reason that when it is taken into consideration that Montgomery county, in which The Advertiser has such great influence, gave Johnston a good majority, then the loss of Jefferson, where so much money was spent, and money will do many things, grows insignificant. Without Jefferson Captain Johnston has a good majority.

Everything about the Johnston democracy has been a triumph. It was a bright condition. Everybody was in a good humor. A great battle had been won and nothing was done but count and count. A large number of gold standard people eagerly awaited The Montgomery Advertiser this morning to get some consolation, but the flaming headlines, "Clarke is A-Com-ing," didn't sound so well. The telegraph companies here have been doing good business handling the congratulatory messages to Captain Johnston and his able managers. The churches here this morning were crowded and prayers of thanks were made. The county convention in Jefferson takes place on Wednesday and not until then will it be known for certain how the county went.

O'Brien Nominated.

From the returns in already enough is known to lead to the belief that Captain Frank P. O'Brien, former proprietor and editor of The Birmingham Age-Herald, has received a majority of the votes for the office of sheriff of the county. The office is the best, in a pecuniary way, within the gift of the people. It will be the means of putting Captain O'Brien on his feet again in his financial standing. He is a whole-souled gentleman and his heavy vote illustrates the feeling of the people toward him.

Captain R. E. Jones, who was commander of Camp Hardee, United Confederate Veterans, during the great reunion here in 1894, has most surely received the nomination for coroner of the county. The legislators from this county will be all free coinage men, with the possible exception of one or two.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MEN

Who Were Nominated in the Primary Saturday.

Montgomery, Ala., April 12.—(Special.)—The returns indicate the nomination of the following county officers for Montgomery: Sheriff, Charles E. Parks; tax collector, Elliott S. Armistead; treasurer, Amos Jones; coroner, Wesley C. Campbell; justices of the peace for Montgomery, Benjamin H. Screws, John B. Fuller, Moses H. Stuart, and Walter S. Stokes; constable, A. B.

Seale, Ala., April 12.—(Special.)—Between midnight and this morning a mob of masked men went to the county jail, took Reddick Adams, colored, therefrom and lynched him. The mob did its work quietly, no one being disturbed but the jailer, who was very badly frightened. The scheme worked by the mob was very finely planned and well executed. Some one representing himself as a deputy sheriff from beat four knocked at the jailer's door, telling him he had a prisoner to put in jail. The jailer at once proceeded to the jail and unlocked it, being entirely unsuspecting. He found Adams in the cell, and he was taken out and hanged to a tree near the jail.

are pressing for consideration now—the fortifications appropriation bill and the contested election case of Goodwin versus Cobb, from the fifth district of Alabama, in which the committee on elections No. 1 recommended the seating of the contestant, Goodwin. Judge Daniels, chairman of the committee, gave notice ten days ago that he would ask the house to take the case tomorrow but it is understood that he will not announce Chairman Babcock, of the district committee, when the latter moves to take up district business.

But Mr. Cannon, chairman of the committee on appropriations may not be so leniently disposed, and the house may have to determine the order of business for itself. The probabilities seem now to favor the fortifications bill as the first item, and at the conclusion of its consideration, give the rest of the day to the district committee.

Preliminary report upon the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill has been agreed upon, and will be presented tomorrow or Tuesday. It relates only to the matters of which the committee has practically no disagreement among the conferees and a further conference will be held on the matters of more serious difference.

As opportunity presents itself, the general session bills, reported by the committee on invalid pensions, and the bankruptcy bill will be considered, but no time can be fixed at which they will be taken up.

TILLMAN IN KENTUCKY.

HE MADE A SPEECH AT LEXINGTON ON SATURDAY.

Scored Those Democrats Who Prevented the Election of Blackburn, Who Was a True Kentuckian.

Lexington, Ky., April 12.—(Special.)—Senator Tillman was warmly received here yesterday afternoon. The auditorium was packed with farmers and free coinage men. Many ladies were present. He began by saying he was ashamed to appear before such an audience, after he had been heralded by the newspapers as such a terrible creature. He paid the compliments to the blue-grass region, but said he found the democracy of Kentucky much more rotten than he thought he would. He said they were like a lot of sheep without a leader. The men who had been trusted by Kentucky democrats in the past had deserted the party and stabbed Kentucky's candidates in the back.

He showed how these leaders had defeated Senator Blackburn for re-election and dramatically exclaimed: "You were betrayed, bamboozled and debauched by them." He said these same men now pleaded for harmony, as if they could be any harmony among Kentucky democrats. He told of his work in South Carolina in making war on the office-holding class and fought so desperately that he was nearly killed. He said he would have to repudiate old party leaders and take up free coinage men—and they must be honest, too—and send them to the state convention, for, he argued, it would be an everlasting disgrace if Kentucky democrats should instruct for Carlisle for president. He said the quoted interview which made him say that all the old leaders in the silver party ought to be hanged.

TATE AND CRISP WON IN MILTON

The Silver Men Swept the Field at Alpharetta Saturday.

PERRY'S PEOPLE ROUTED

And the Result Means the Gold Standard Candidate Is a Sure Loser.

HOW IT HAD ALL BEEN ARRANGED

That Perry Should Have the County,
Some Red-Hot Campaigning and Its Good Results.

Alpharetta, Ga., April 12.—(Special).—The democrats of Alpharetta at their mass meeting yesterday instructed for Charles F. Crisp for the senate, and for Carter Tate to succeed himself as representative of the ninth district in congress.

It was a glorious victory for the silver men—a victory doubly welcome because it was won over a carefully prepared plan of the county to the gold standard candidate, Colonel Perry, of Gainesville, and to send gold standard men to the state convention.

Not in years has Milton county known so much interest in a political event as was manifested in yesterday's meeting. Every democrat in the county was on hand and it was indeed a busy day for Alpharetta.

The Plans Carefully Laid.

The principal fight was over delegates to the congressional convention. Everything else hinged on the contest between Tate and Perry, and the friends of Colonel Perry had certainly laid all their plans carefully. Indeed they felt so sure of success that many of Congressmen Tate's friends outside the county were inclined to concede the county to the man who stood as the administration's candidate.

Saturday a week ago, the Perry men had a rally at which their candidates spoke. They were much encouraged and claimed that they had made some notable converts. They then began a quiet canvass of the county. Colonel Perry and his friends sent out a letter to almost every democrat in the county urging them to come out to yesterday's mass meeting. Everything was kept as quiet as possible.

But the best laid plans sometimes fail. One of Congressmen Tate's friends came out to what was going on and wired him. Carter reached Alpharetta late Wednesday night and then began such a canvass as Milton has never before known. This is a small county with good roads and both Colonel Tate and Colonel Perry spent their time in hustling over the county. But the congressman proved to be the best hustler. By Friday night he and his friends had the people thoroughly aroused and their forces well in hand, and early Saturday the people began to come to town.

The Perry people were surprised and seemed confused. Colonel Perry called on Congressman Tate on Friday night for a discussion the next day. The congressman replied that a mass meeting had been ordered for Saturday for the purpose of selecting delegates to the state and congressional conventions, and also for the nomination of candidates for state senator, representatives and county officers, and that he found that the leading democrats were of the opinion that it would take all day for this important work and that they did not desire to have their mass meeting interfered with or the day consumed in a joint debate.

This reply was especially gratifying to the candidates and their friends who feared that a joint discussion would result in the people ignoring the candidates for county officers.

Perry Playing for Delay.

Then Colonel Perry asked Congressman Tate to join him in requesting the executive committee to postpone the election of congressional delegates.

(Tate came back at him in a way characteristically vigorous. He expressed surprise at such a proposition coming from Colonel Perry, who on the Saturday before had addressed the people of Milton, urging his candidacy and had written hundreds of letters to democrats asking them to come out to this meeting. Now that they had come was he afraid to submit his claims to them?)

As for himself, the congressman said he felt that the question could be safely left to the wisdom and judgment of the democrats of Milton without any interference from either of the congressional candidates.

Perry's friends secured a meeting of the county executive committee Saturday morning and seeing that defeat was staring them in the face, asked the committee to postpone the meeting. This the committee refused to do, only one member voting for postponement.

Filled to Overflowing.

By this time there were more democrats in Alpharetta than could get in the courthouse. The meeting was called to order and a resolution was adopted providing that candidates for senator, representative and county officers should be selected by ballot and that each democrat should vote direct for his choice for congress, the candidate securing a majority of the votes to select his own delegates to the congressional convention. Three managers were appointed, and at one of the windows down stairs the balloting began.

About the time the mass meeting convened, Colonel Perry went before it and asked that the selection of delegates to the congressional convention be postponed. The question was put to the meeting and voted down by an overwhelming vote. Indeed, only one voice was heard in favor of postponement. Colonel Perry had stated to the mass meeting that if he did not postpone he did not care to have his name considered as a candidate. They at once, without changing the previous order for a ballot, which was proceeding down stairs, and in which Tate had at that time 146 votes to none for Colonel Perry—adopted a resolution instructing the delegates to the congressional convention to vote for Tate, and naming R. N. Rogers and Tom Atwity as delegates.

The mass meeting elected two strong silver men—T. L. Lewis and M. H. Upshaw—as delegates to the state convention.

Instructed for Crisp.

The mass meeting, by a practically unanimous vote, instructed the nominees for the senate and the house to vote for Charles F. Crisp for the senate.

While the silver men were largely in the majority, most of the sound money—so called—men were for Tate and voted for the Crisp instructions.

It was a rousing victory for Tate and about ends the fight in the ninth district. Perry's friends have said if he couldn't carry Milton couldn't carry any county in the district, and that is the way it looks now.

The ninth district can be put down as solid on the side of silver.

TWO MORE COUNTIES.

Wilcox and Marion Call General Primaries—Wilcox to Vote on Senator.

Abbeville, Ga., April 12.—(Special).—The democratic executive committee met here yesterday and passed resolutions favoring the silver standard for national, state and county action, with the endorsement of United States senator.

Marion Says Nothing About Senator.

Buena Vista, Ga., April 12.—(Special).—The democratic executive committee met yesterday and appointed June fifth a day to nominate candidates for all offices.

PAYING FOR THE MUSIC.

CHICAGO HANDS OVER A CHECK FOR $10,000.

The Subcommittee Has Made Progress and Will Meet Again in May.

Chicago, April 12.—The subcommittee of arrangements for the national convention of the national democratic committee adjourned last night to meet again in this city May 1st.

At this meeting subcommittees on tickets, press, telegraph, decorations and hall will be appointed. It is probable that permanent headquarters will be opened at the Palmer house about the first week in June.

The most important action of the committee yesterday was the selection of John I. Martin, of St. Louis, ex-speaker of the Missouri house of representatives, for the position of sergeant-at-arms. The appointment had large experience in arranging details of large gatherings and parades and is regarded as eminently fitted for the position. He has been prominent in the democratic politics of Missouri and as a presidential elector on the Cleveland and Hendricks ticket ran twenty thousand ahead of Governor Markham. Professionally he came under national notice some years ago as the chief counsel for Maxwell in the celebrated Maxwell-Preller murder trial.

The committee inspected the unfinished coliseum yesterday morning and afternoon and was delighted for a long time with the two architects, several of the arrangements for seating the delegates being suggested and assented to by the local delegation.

At the luncheon given the visitors at the Iroquois Club yesterday afternoon the local finance committee handed over a check for $10,000, or one-fourth of the guarantee, with the assurance that the remainder had been subscribed and would be collected and paid over in such installments as might be called for by Chairman Harbry.

When he concluded the applause was long and continued, many of those in the foyer waving their handkerchiefs and hats. The congregation united in singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" and with the pronounced enthusiasm the unique services came to an end.

JUMPED FROM A WINDOW.

A Narrow Escape of Inmates of an Apartment House in Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., April 12.—At 2 o'clock this morning fire broke out in the Gehring apartment house on Huron street. Forty families lived in the building. Mary Cox, a waitress, aged seven, roomed with her sister, Annie, on the third floor and was cut off from the fire escape. With her night gown and hair in flames she jumped to the sidewalk, breaking her arm and receiving other severe injuries. Mrs. John Berlotucella jumped from the second story and was badly injured. James Kinswater fell through a burning floor and was seriously injured. His escape from death was by a very narrow margin. Twenty families lost all their furniture and clothing and are now sheltered by their neighbors. The loss in all was about $15,000.

A BLAZE AT PIEDMONT.

A Residence Burned and Two Men Badly Injured.

Piedmont, Ala., April 12.—(Special).—D. L. Woolf's residence caught fire today about 10 o'clock and nearly consumed the building. Woolf managed to save all his furniture. Loss several hundred dollars with insurance.

Mr. Tom Turk was badly hurt during the fire. He fell from the roof to the ground, injuring himself internally.

Mr. Brown is also in a serious condition caused by excitement and heat. It was mainly the efforts of these two gentlemen that prevented the entire loss of the building.

Spring Medicine

Your blood in Spring is almost certain to be full of impurities—the accumulation of the winter months. Bad ventilation of sleeping rooms, impure air in dwellings, factories and shops, over-eating, heavy, improper foods, failure of the kidneys and liver properly to do extra work thus thrust upon them, are the prime causes of this condition. It is of the utmost importance that you

Purify Your Blood

Now, as when warmer weather comes and the tonic effect of cold bracing air is gone, your weak, thin, impure blood will not furnish necessary strength. That tired feeling, loss of appetite, will open the way for serious disease, ruined health, or breaking out of humors and impurities. To make pure, rich, red blood Hood's Sarsaparilla stands unequalled. Thousands testify to its merits. Millions take it as their Spring Medicine. Get Hood's, because

AN INFIDEL IN CHURCH.

INGERSOLL SPEAKS TO A BIG, FULL HOUSE.

The Pastor of the Congregation Utters Words of Supplication—What the Colonel Said.

Chicago, April 12.—With a prelude which included the pronouncing of an invocation, the reading of the tenth chapter of Luke, commencing with the 24th verse, the singing of a hymn of "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and "America," the greatest living apostle of the age, Robert G. Ingersoll, stepped to the rostrum at 10 o'clock this morning, and for nearly two hours expounded to the congregation his views upon "How Mankind Could be Reformed."

The Church Militant is composed of the major portion of the former adherents of the Fullerton Avenue Presbyterian church, one of the strongest congregations of the denomination in the city, and who with their pastor, Rev. Dr. John Rusk, branched off into an independent organization some months since as a result of the opposition of a minority of the congregation to the introduction of radical changes in the conduct of the church, these changes including the use of instrumental orchestra music and the church of employment, hospital, club house and other guilds.

Some time ago an invitation was extended to Colonel Ingersoll to deliver an address under the auspices of the congregation and it was in response to this invitation that he found himself on its rostrum today. At the time the invitation was extended the congregation held its services in the Woman's Christian Temperance Union temple, which building was manifested by the managing board of the structure over the idea of an apostate speaking within its precincts that the Columbia theater was secured for a term of years, and therefore it fell upon the shoulders of the church to inaugurate the services in the new meeting place. Although admission was free, the church was crowded to the doors and the church was crowded to the doors and the church was crowded to the doors.

On the stage were 400 or more representative citizens.

When Colonel Ingersoll made his appearance, arm in arm with Dr. Rusk there was loud applause, mingled with murmurs from some who seemed to have a declared hostility to the speaker. The latter, however, was not at all perturbed by the demonstration as he proceeded to deliver his address.

In the prayer that followed the exercises, Dr. Rusk asked for a special blessing on the guest of the day, who was endeavoring to show the world how life might be made one of usefulness and joy, and invoked a dispensation for his efforts and children, while in his introductory remarks, Dr. Rusk characterized Colonel Ingersoll as "the man who was here to do this world good and to make it better."

When he stepped to the rostrum, he was welcomed with a applause that lasted for over a minute. With the suggestion that while his lecture was in progress, the church would be closed, but he was not to leave the building, he was to stay in the building, he was to stay in the building, he was to stay in the building.

THEY HAVE HAD ENOUGH OF HIM

Democrats Answer a Query Sent Out by a Newspaper.

IN CASE MCKINLEY IS NAMED

By the Republicans, Is Not Cleveland the Logical Candidate?

TO BE SELECTED BY DEMOCRATS

A Great Majority of the Replies State That They Do Not Think That Way—Washington Gossip.

Washington, April 12.—(Special).—The New York newspapers are devoting much space to interviews with people all over the country as to whether or not Mr. Cleveland is the logical candidate in the event the republicans nominate McKinley.

The great mass of democratic opinion is against Mr. Cleveland. Many prominent public men declare his nomination would hopelessly sink the democratic party. Two-thirds of the democrats in congress so express themselves. Indeed, it is remarkable how unpopular Mr. Cleveland is with his own party outside of the office holders directly under him. There are not a score of democratic congressmen who ever visit the whitehouse these days. The president consults with but few men outside of his cabinet. These are his personal and financial friends in New York, who occasionally come over to see him.

Mr. Cleveland feels this deeply, yet he believes the masses of the people of the country have confidence in him and to punish his political enemies in the party Mr. Cleveland would like a nomination. The president is an optimist. He believes he could be re-elected. He believes he can play foreign affairs and other things to that effect.

To test the strength of his stand for gold is the cause of his sending his cabinet officers out on missionary work. That is why Carlisle and Wilson and Hoke Smith are sent out to work up sentiment. He believes he can educate the people to the gold standard as he claims he educated them to tariff reform.

The recent printed interviews against him have made him more determined and he proposes, if the administration has the power, to control the Chicago convention and dictate its every act. Everything will be used to this end. Neither labor nor money will be asked to accomplish it.

Intimate friends of Mr. Cleveland, like Dan Lamont, say he don't want the nomination, but he don't propose to have the silver men run away with the convention. These men don't think Carlisle the proper man for it. They don't think him strong enough personally before the people. They want Whitney to take it. Whitney has been here for two days. He would like it but he would not take it unless there comes a material change in the situation.

Boies and Morgan.

The free coinage democrats are now talking Boies and Morgan, of Alabama. They are confident of the control of the convention and think they will have things their own way. Unless they are correct in their claims, it looks very much like the democratic party will split up fragments.

TO CUT A TUNNEL TO THE WEST SIDE

New Proposition That Council May Be Asked To Adopt.

EAST HUNTER TO BE EXTENDED

Alabama Street Will Be Connected with the Tunnel.

ALABAMA STREET BRIDGE WON'T BE BUILT

The Last Named Enterprise Seems To Have Lagged Recently—Engineer Clayton's Plans.

Now that it appears that the project to extend Alabama street over the railroad tracks has been abandoned, the people of the west side are looking about for another outlet and inlet to their section of the city. That a better highway is needed is acknowledged on all sides.

For many years the people of the first ward and a part of the fifth wards living in the section which is practically cut off from easy communication with the business part of town have been clamoring for a better highway.

It seems practically certain that the scheme to build the Alabama street bridge has been abandoned and some other plan people have given the scheme up as hopeless. Several plans have been outlined to give the desired relief, but it seems that Captain Clayton's idea of a tunnel has been the most popular. The larger number of first and fifth ward people. The opening of the street would make a splendid thoroughfare and put the people in direct traffic communication with the business section of the city. The tunnel, if built, will bring the western section much nearer to the center of town and in a large degree lessen the difficulty in going to and from one section to the other.

What Captain Clayton Says.

In speaking of his plan yesterday Captain Clayton said: "I have always thought that the Alabama street bridge project was impracticable and have advocated in its place the cutting of a tunnel under the railroad tracks in order to give the west side people direct communication with the center of the city. I think that a tunnel is the best means of settling the problem and that it is by far the cheapest plan that could be carried out. The cost of the tunnel would be about $400,000 and little more than that sum when the street has been paved and put in first-class condition in every respect.

"My idea is to begin the tunnel at the end of West Hunter street at the intersection of Thompson street. The tunnel proper would run a distance of about 1,000 feet and end at Elliott street. From that point a grade street could be opened to the intersection of Elliott and Rybalsky streets. The total distance is but 2,000 feet and the cost of paving and putting it in condition is included in the figures mentioned. The great advantage of the plan over the Alabama street bridge scheme is that the tunnel grade would be only 4 per cent. The grade of the bridge route is many times more.

Wide Enough for Traffic.

"It seems to me that the plan is the best of the question. By opening the street car tracks and business section would be placed in direct communication with the western part of the city. The tunnel would be granite walled and be lighted by electricity. It would be the

Fewer Business Failures Shown in This Section

THAN IN OTHER SECTIONS

Report of Failures for the First Quarter of 1896.

THE SOUTH SHOWS TO GREAT ADVANTAGE

General Average of Failures Higher Than Last Year—Talk with Mr. Jeff Pearce.

Again the south comes forward as the banner section in the matter of commercial failures. For the first quarter of the year the average of failures here was smaller than in any other part of the country. It was gratifying to the business interests of the entire south to glance over the surprising figures presented by the business agencies.

Taking the country over, there have been more failures this year than for a corresponding period last year. This news will be in the nature of a surprise to the people generally. The facts given out by the business agencies clearly establish this statement. The figures of the business agencies prove this to be true.

Mr. Jeff Pearce, superintendent of the Bradstreet Company, furnishes the following information in regard to the business for the first quarter in 1896 over 1895. One of the striking facts of the conservative business development in the southern states, which is more conspicuous than in any other section of the country. It is shown that there were only 738 business failures in the year 1896 compared with 800 in the first quarter of one year ago. This, however, is due to the fact that the liabilities, as contrasted with $7,639,000 last year, the increase of indebtedness in the face of a falling off of embarrassments is due to a disproportionate number of failures with large capitalization and heavy liabilities.

"It will doubtless be of much value and interest to credit givers to see the above comparative list of the number of failures and the assets and liabilities of each southern state for the first quarter of the years 1895 and 1896.

"In making a study of the failure statistics I have observed that at the close of the year 1895 failures due to the lack of capital and extravagance in the southern states were less than for the year 1894, which is an indication of a more conservative and economical management by those in business, but on the other hand the liabilities have increased. This is due to the fact that the increase of indebtedness is due to a disproportionate number of failures with large capitalization and heavy liabilities.

"The truth is, there is nothing to discourage the south in the foregoing figures to alarm those who extend credit. for the first quarter in 1896 over 1895. One of the striking facts of the conservative business development in the southern states, which is more conspicuous than in any other section of the country. It is shown that there were only 738 business failures in the year 1896 compared with 800 in the first quarter of one year ago.

"The south shows to great advantage in the matter of business failures. The figures of the business agencies prove this to be true.

CHIEFS TO MEET.

Police Chiefs, Marshals and Sheriff Assemble in Columbus Tuesday.

THE THIRD ANNUAL SESSION

Chief A. B. Connolly, President of the Association, Will Leave This Morning for Columbus.

The convention of the Georgia police chiefs, marshals and sheriffs will meet tomorrow morning in Columbus in annual session. The convention will be in session three days and will be largely attended by members from all portions of the state.

Chief of Police A. B. Connolly will leave this morning at 5 o'clock and will spend the day in Columbus looking after the arrangements which are to be made for the coming of the delegates. Chief Connolly is president of the association, and has been since its organization in this city more than two years ago.

The convention will meet tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock and the business of the session will first be taken up and disposed of by the reports of committees and standing reports will be heard and passed upon, after which the social feature will be the dinner.

During the stay of the delegates in the city, the local officers of the police department of that city will give them a boat ride down the Chattahoochee. Tuesday afternoon the delegates will be tendered arolley ride over the Columbus street railway and will be given a spread at the brewery.

The work of the convention. The annual session which meets tomorrow morning will be one of the most important in the history of the association and a larger number of delegates will be in attendance than ever before.

Addresses of welcome will be made by Mayor Gilmer, of Columbus, and Hon. C. E. Battle in behalf of the city and county. These addresses will be responded to by several of the members of the convention.

Several committees which were appointed at the last annual meeting will be expected to have reports ready, and these will be heard among the first things which are taken up by the convention. A committee was appointed to make an investigation of the best manner in which criminals could be apprehended and how they could be most easily captured. This committee will report before the adjournment of the present session.

Many interesting questions will be taken up for discussion and the convention promises to result in the accomplishment of many things which will be of value to the officers of the police and county.

To Be Royally Entertained. The delegates will meet a royal reception at the hands of the local committee of reception.

Tuesday afternoon the delegates will be tendered a ride over the electric street car system of Columbus. One of the lines terminates at the brewery, and under the branches trees a dinner will be spread in honor of the delegates. Both liquid and solid refreshments will be on the bill of fare.

Tuesday evening the delegates will attend the Springer opera house in a body and will be entertained in boxes at the performance of Lillian Lewis.

After the morning session Wednesday the delegates will be given a boat ride down the Chattahoochee and the steamer Fannie Fearn has been chartered for the occasion. An elegant banquet will be given on board and sweet music will be furnished by an orchestra.

Thursday afternoon the delegates will witness the first league game between Atlanta and Columbus, and Thursday night the visitors will be tendered a banquet at the Waldorf park. Chief of Police Wyle and Sheriff Bowles are members of the committee on entertainment and they have prepared an excellent programme for the pleasure of the visitors.

History of the Association. The association of Georgia chiefs of police, marshals and sheriffs was organized two years ago in Atlanta at the suggestion of Chief of Police A. B. Connolly. The next meeting was held in Gainesville, and Chief Connolly was again unanimously elected president, though he was unable to be present.

The next meeting was held in Macon, at which time Chief Connolly was again re-elected. The annual meeting this week in Columbus will be the third meeting since its organization.

HOTTON IS HELD.

The Young Man Is Still Detained at the County Jail.

HE MAY BE RELEASED TODAY

The Charges Against Him Were Made on Circumstantial Evidence and He May Be Given Liberty.

Charles Hotton, the young white man who was suspected of furnishing poison to Ida Elliott, the young woman who died suddenly, is still confined in a cell of the county jail, and though the investigations which were inaugurated by the coroner have been completed, he is still detained.

When Ida Elliott died under mysterious circumstances several days ago in Bellwood Hotton was arrested at the instance of her brother. An inquest was then held by Coroner Paden and the verdict of the jury was that the girl died from the effects of poison which had been given her by Hotton.

The warrant was then taken out and the arrest and incarceration of Hotton followed. The young man admitted that he was a close friend of the girl, but denied that he had ever given her any poison or that he knew the circumstances of her tragic death.

A Post Mortem Held. Under the evidence which was placed in the hands of Coroner Paden he thought it wise that a post mortem be held so that an examination of the body of the girl could be made.

The body was exhumed several days ago and under the direction of surgeons the stomach was taken out and placed in the hands of Professor J. M. McCandless with instructions that he make a careful analysis of the organ with a view to ascertaining whether or not poison had been given her.

For a number of days the stomach was examined, but the report of Professor McCandless was to the effect that no poison had been discovered, and if it had been given all traces and indications had been wiped out and no evidence of a criminal nature could be discovered.

This report was directed to Coroner Paden and was made late Saturday afternoon. The friends of Hotton expected that his release would follow, as he was arrested pending the investigation, and as the report was entirely in his favor, they saw no good reason why he should be detained on the charge of murder.

Hotton is still held. Hotton was not released, however, and at a late hour last night was at the county jail.

Hotton was suspected of having committed two crimes, either of which had been true would have placed him in a very bad position. It was charged that he had accomplished the ruin of Ida Elliott, with whom he was infatuated, and the other charge was that he had given her poison with which to enable her to conceal her shame.

Both of these charges were emphatically denied by the young man, but the authorities deemed it best to make an investigation. The body was exhumed and an examination failed to show that she was in a delicate condition at the time of her death. The analysis made of the stomach also failed to discover any trace of poison having been used.

It is probable that Hotton will be either released today or some further steps will be taken in the matter.

April and May are good months to purify the blood and build up the system. Don't neglect such an important matter. Hood's Sarsaparilla now, before it is too late.

Map Showing Proposed Tunnel Under Central Railroad, Forming a Western Outlet to the City.

is desired, Captain R. M. Clayton, city engineer, thinks that he has the best scheme in mind to meet the needs of the west side people. He has a plan to tunnel under the tracks of the railroads, beginning at Hunter and Thompson streets and ending at Elliott street.

From Elliott street Captain Clayton thinks that at a reasonable cost a street could be opened to the junction of Magnolia and Rhodes streets, making a thoroughfare to the latter point from the intersection of Hunter and Thompson streets. The distance is about 2,000 feet, one-half of which will be a tunnel.

The estimated cost of accomplishing the scheme is something over $100,000. That figure does not include the cost of condemning and paying for the property beyond Elliott street on which the graded section of the new street would be. The distance is short and it is not believed that the outlay would be very great.

At the last meeting of the council the first intimation was given that the Alabama street bridge project had been practically abandoned. It was stated by members of the council and the city attorney, Judge Anderson, that the project was in bad prospects and that the hope for its accomplishment was rather dim. It was stated that the Central Railroad Company has made strenuous objection to the building of the bridge and that without the consent of the company the city could not cross their tracks.

The question came up on a motion to take $5,000 from the bridge fund appropriated by the council at the beginning of the year. That amount was set aside to defray the preliminary expenses of the bridge work and it was given out that an additional appropriation would be made at a later date. Nothing has been done in the matter during the year and when it was brought out that the bridge project is considered to be impracticable at this time the council voted away the $5,000, giving it to the water department. As it stands now there is no cent to the credit of the bridge fund and the west side regulation street width and plenty wide enough to allow the use of it by vehicles, street car tracks and pedestrians. The principal objection to the Alabama street bridge project is that the east end cannot be built without greatly damaging the property on Alabama street from Forsyth street to the railroad. The fire engine house is located there, as is well known, and to build the bridge would necessitate the abandonment of the engine house.

Branch Tunnel Suggested.

"My plan contemplates the opening of a street from the engine house along the side of the railroad tracks to the intersection of Hunter and Thompson streets at a distance of only 400 feet. That would place those who live near the contemplated west end of the Alabama street bridge within one block of that point. This additional section of tunnel would not cost any great amount.

"The plan is, of course, one of immense proportions, but it appears to me to be the only practicable means of solving the question of an outlet to the western part of the city. I favor the scheme and if the council three or four years ago had never had reason to change my opinion about it I favor the scheme and if the west side is to be given an outlet I think that the best way to do it is to realize the feasibility and advantage of it."

TO ARGUE BEFORE PARDEE.

Mr. L. H. Spillman Will Present the M. and N. G.'s Case.

Mr. L. H. Spillman, a prominent attorney of Knoxville, spent yesterday in Atlanta. He was en route to New Orleans, where he will appear before Judge Pardee, of the United States circuit court of appeal for the fifth circuit, to argue the motion heretofore made in equity consolidated causes of the Central Trust Company of New York and the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company, vs. the Marietta and North Georgia railway and the holders of $130,590 worth of the receiver's certificates.

In the original case tried before Judge Newman it was held that the receiver's certificates were a prior lien on the road over the bonds.

The bondholders have appealed from Judge Newman's decision and it is a motion to dismiss this appeal which Mr. Spillman will argue before Judge Pardee.

In support of this motion to dismiss the appeal three delicate points will be presented as follows: First, want of citation; second, want of definite parties appellees; third, non-jurisdiction of necessary parties appellant.

The case is of more than ordinary interest to Atlanta from the fact that over $50,000 worth of the certificates are held here.

Death of an Old Man.

Mr. W. G. Blair, sixty-seven years old, died yesterday at his home, 349 Peters street. He was a wholesale dealer in stock and had been sick for some time with consumption. His remains will be sent to Villa Rica for interment.

Sedalia, Mo., April 12.—(Special.)—The of the most prominent characters in America these warm spring days. For Hanna is the very head and front and essence of the McKinley campaign. He is the man

There was great knocking at the door of the Hanna-McKinley room late in the first night of the convention. Mr. McKinley answered the call and admitted the boomers who were anxious to submit their plan for a combination by which the nomination should go to Edmunds or Sherman. He refused to entertain them, and each sought refuge during the first vote. The major listened to the schemer from his place under the covers, but made no comment. When they had gone he turned them nearly to the end and then said: "Gentlemen, I think you must have made a mistake. The Sherman man is over there in the other building." They went to sleep, as the visitors shook up Hanna to retell their story. It increased Mr. Hanna's confidence in himself, and he never made use of his unwilling confidences to the benefit of his man Blaine.

It was noted that Mr. Hanna is a business man. He has done more good business men of than of the iron and copper mines of northern Michigan. Others came to him for advice, and he gave it, and did the same thing. He was the pioneer of the Lake Superior ship trade, and it now carries two fleets of iron boats to handle the ore. His success in the lumber trade makes boats for sale was his project, and its development made Cleveland the first naval yard along the inland seas. A lot of money was made by him in the lumbering genius of which was Mr. Hanna.

There was a municipal necessity for a new street car. To build it, his financial resources were demanded, and he met the Sedalla, Mo., April 11.—(Special.)—The first convention of the year to select delegates to a national convention will be held here next Wednesday, April 15th, when 338 democratic delegates will voice the Missouri democrats as an evidence of trustworthiness and party fidelity.

Bland a Presidential Possibility.

Not since the war has Missouri had a statesman whose name has been so seriously considered as a presidential possibility, and many of Mr. Bland's friends deem this a proper occasion for launching him into the presidency. Many of the coinage men from outside states are urging Missouri democrats to inaugurate a boom for Bland as the free coinage nominee. With abundant argument and all of the sentiment in his favor, his own record in the senate seems likely to prevent the use of his name.

In connection with a plan to pass resolutions indorsing him for the presidency, Mr. Bland said it should be the duty of the delegates from Missouri, as well as of the delegates from other states, to insist at the Chicago convention the platform and not the individual. "There is a great vital principle at stake in this fight," said he, "and it should be the duty of the voters and their representatives to demand the platform and not the individual."

There need be no lack of nominations of men who are irrevocably committed to the principles involved in the adoption of this platform, and the nomination of the candidate should be of secondary con-

Just as Hanna is the unquestioned practical leader the McKinley forces, so is Platt, of New York, the leader of the opposition.

He is theoretical politician, essentially. He is in politics because he is in politics. What he makes out of politics no man has ever been able to discover. It is his nature. He is a man who will not say so and give it as the reason his Alfred Alford Is in Jail Charged with Counterfeiting.

HE WAS ARRESTED SATURDAY

When Confronted with His Guilt He Confessed.

MOLDS AND MONEY FOUND AT HIS HOME

Alford Will Be Given a Preliminary Hearing This Morning Before Commissioner Broyles.

Alfred Alford, a well known farmer living at Buckhead, a small station about seven miles east of Atlanta on the Georgia railroad, was arrested on the charge of making and passing counterfeit coin.

The arrest was accomplished Saturday afternoon at his home by Secret Service Officers Forsythe and Scott, and Alford was placed in the county jail late in the afternoon of the same day.

He will be given a preliminary hearing this morning at 10 o'clock before United States Commissioner Broyles, and a number of witnesses will be present who will testify against the young man. Not only the evidence against him, but the nature of the case, the counterfeit money was found upon his person and the molds were discovered in his room.

Alford himself has confessed and will probably implicate others at his preliminary trial this morning.

The exact amount of money which was made and passed by Alford has not been ascertained, but the officers do not think he had an opportunity to place a large sum in circulation. The money was made by Alford at his home, about seven miles from Buckhead, and then carried to the little village where it was passed upon the merchants of the place.

The arrest of Alford was brought about on account of information which was furnished the secret service officers by the merchants of Buckhead. Several of the merchants had been victimized and they agreed to watch out for the counterfeiters and say nothing about the money until the evidence was secured which would convict the guilty party.

In a few days Alford made a visit to the little village and before he left for his country home he carried with him several counterfeit nickels. The merchants accepted the spurious coin, but when the federal authorities of the matter.

Secret Service Officers Forsythe and Scott went down Saturday morning, but found Alford back late in the afternoon.

Arrested at His Home.

Seeing a hawk the officers started out for the home of Alford, who lived with his father in a substantial country home, seven miles from Buckhead.

Just before reaching the house, Alford was recognized by the negro man who was driving the hack, and the officers asked Alford to get into the hack and accompany them to the house, which was but a few hundred yards further down the road. Alford did not know the mission of the officers, and readily consented to return with them to the house.

When the gate was reached Alford was informed of the nature of the case, and he was immediately placed under arrest. At first Alford denied knowing anything about the money and the officers stated to him that they had positive evidence and were going to search the house, which was a threat to him as well as to tell them where the molds had been hidden.

Alford then went with the officers to a room in the second story of the house, and told them to search for the molds and if they could find them. The officers searched through the room, but found nothing of the molds. Alford was then searched, and a purse and a number of counterfeit coins were found on his person.

The officers were about to make a search of the house, when Alford volunteered to get the molds.

He then carried the officers into a room on the first floor and opening a drawer in a sideboard, pulled out a little bundle wrapped in a piece of old cloth.

The package was opened by the officers and the molds were found inside the bundle. The molds were made of lead, and were a very crude imitation of the work of making the money.

The molds which were dated 1891, but the nickels which had been passed at the village stores were dated 1893, showing that another set of molds was in the possession of the prisoner. Alford refused to say anything about the matter, and denied having any but the ones he gave the officers.

Alford was then brought to Atlanta and placed in jail, where he awaits his preliminary hearing this morning before Commissioner Broyles, of the United States court.

Alford Was Well Thought Of.

Alford Alford was well thought of by his neighbors at his home and comes of a good family. He has lived near Buckhead for a number of years and during that time made many friends who never dreamed that he was a counterfeiter.

Alford was a very quiet man, and he placed a nickel between two pieces of bread and hammed a very impressive meal.

The metals were placed together and the lead was melted and poured into the space in which the nickel had been pressed. In this crude manner many nickels are said to have been made, which were later passed by Alford among the negroes working on his father's plantation and the merchants doing business in the little village of Buckhead.

Alford Confesses.

While en route to Atlanta with the officers, Alford admitted that he had made the molds for the purpose of making counterfeit money and that he had passed several of the nickels among the merchants and on other people living in Georgia. The name of the party was given the officers and it is probable that the officers will lead to more developments in the case.

Alford is highly connected in Buckhead and is related to several citizens of Atlanta, and his friends will arrive this morning and probably make an effort to arrange bond for the young man.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

SOCIAL, CRIMINAL, RELIGIOUS AND OTHER MATTERS.

Some Local Happenings of a Day Gathered from Many Sources by Constitution Reporters.

Mr. Collier Still at the Capital.

Mr. C. A. Collier, who was expected home from Washington, D. C., yesterday, was not yet returned. Mr. Collier went to Washington to push some claims of the United States and International Exposition Company against the United States government. The senate committee before which he is to appear, adjourned Friday until this morning. Mr. Collier writes that he will not be able to return to the city before the middle of this week.

Mrs. A. A. Bradley's Death.

Mrs. A. A. Bradley, the mother of J. M. Bradley, the man who was shot by Charles DeLoach, died yesterday at the residence of her daughter, 18 Howell street. She was seventy years old and had been sick for some time with heart trouble. Last week she fell and received injuries which he is to appear, adjourned Friday until this morning. Mr. Collier writes that he will not be able to return to the city before the middle of this week.

Mrs. A. W. Walker Dead.

Mrs. A. W. Walker, the wife of Mr. A. W. Walker, died yesterday at the residence of her daughter, 18 Howell street. She was thirty-five years old, and has many friends who will be grieved to learn of her death. Her remains will be sent to Silan, Ga., today for burial.

Will Be in the Race.

While the city election is a long ways off, it is understood that Mr. O. H. Holliday will again be in the race against Mr. J. H. Goldsmith for place as comptroller. It will be remembered that although Mr. Holliday came out late in the race at the last election, Mr. Goldsmith only won something like fifty-five votes. While Mr. Holliday has made no formal announcement, it is generally understood that he is in the race.

Will Meet in August.

The annual meeting of the State Medical Association will be held at Augusta, beginning Wednesday. A very large meeting is expected. A number of Atlanta physicians will be present. Questions of general importance to physicians will be discussed. The president of the association is Dr. W. M. Taylor, of Griffin.

Father Cattery Honored.

The celebration at the Catholic church, St. Louis, of the feast of St. Joseph, yesterday was of unusual interest. It was the twenty-fifth anniversary of Very Rev. Father Cattery's priesthood. Father Cattery has been a leading figure in the Catholic church in Atlanta all these years, and the priests and people wished to do him deserved honor on the occasion. He was honored with a small gold chain, the Rev. Bishop doing the honor. Father Cattery has been a very devoted man, but his innate modesty declined any honor which he might have received. He is now living and helping the faithful people of Savannah, by whom he has been loved and honored.

Back from Florida.

Professor J. J. Krom will return tomorrow from a stay of several weeks at St. Augustine, Fla. He has been there during the past six weeks.

John Jarvis Lost.

Mr. C. E. Jarvis, who works at the Robins marble works and lives at 23 Irving street, lost a small gold chain, the Rev. Bishop doing the honor. Father Cattery has been a very devoted man, but his innate modesty declined any honor which he might have received. He is now living and helping the faithful people of Savannah, by whom he has been loved and honored.

Probably Stole the Cow.

A negro by the name of Richard Barnett walked into the stockyard on Peters street yesterday morning with a small black cow, which he offered for sale at an unusually low price. The cow had been stolen from the stockyard of a white man, and the owner had been arrested on the suspicion of having stolen the animal.

Stole Empty Barrels.

The warehouse of the Atlanta Grocery Company, near the Forsyth street bridge, was broken into and robbed a few nights ago. The thieves carried off several empty barrels, every one of which was carried off. The thieves did not know exactly where the robbery occurred. The warehouse is seldom visited, and the loss was discovered Saturday morning. Several negroes are suspected of the theft and the officers are making a search for them. The loss to the company is not very great.

Frank Joseph Buried.

Frank Joseph, the old missionary to the state convict camps, who died Saturday afternoon at the age of eighty-two, was buried yesterday. Frank was one of the best men of the city, and his funeral was largely attended by his white friends as well as his colored brethren.

Putting on More Cars.

Beginning this morning the regular summer schedule on the Decatur line will be inaugurated by the Consolidated. Cars will be run every thirty minutes instead of forty minutes as heretofore. In the afternoon cars will be run on the nine mile line and the Consolidated will be run to Grant park. The Consolidated is making every arrangement to accommodate the large number of people who will be coming to take advantage of the spring weather.

Georgia Colonies.

From the Baltimore Sun.

Georgia has a thriving colony of ex-Union soldiers, mostly negroes, who have purchased large tracts of land in the Empire State of the South, and will conduct farming operations and later on industrial business on an extensive scale. This colony, it is stated, is restricted to white men, and negroes are excluded absolutely. This is a new feature of life in the south, as heretofore the great plantations of that section have been dependent almost altogether on the negro laborer, while every southern state the negro has been able to acquire small holdings of land, and frequently his property, and the farm of the white planter. There is not a state below Mason and Dixon's line in which the native white element would object to the industrial, self-supporting negro as a farmer or farm laborer, while there are no negro mechanics and white mechanics who do not claim the same union solidarity.

Alford Confesses.

While en route to Atlanta with the officers, Alford admitted that he had made the molds for the purpose of making counterfeit money and that he had passed several of the nickels among the merchants and on other people living in Georgia. The name of the party was given the officers and it is probable that the officers will lead to more developments in the case.

Alford is highly connected in Buckhead and is related to several citizens of Atlanta, and his friends will arrive this morning and probably make an effort to arrange bond for the young man.

Alford Was Well Thought Of.

Alford Alford was well thought of by his neighbors at his home and comes of a good family. He has lived near Buckhead for a number of years and during that time made many friends who never dreamed that he was a counterfeiter.

Alford was a very quiet man, and he placed a nickel between two pieces of bread and hammed a very impressive meal.

The metals were placed together and the lead was melted and poured into the space in which the nickel had been pressed. In this crude manner many nickels are said to have been made, which were later passed by Alford among the negroes working on his father's plantation and the merchants doing business in the little village of Buckhead.

FOR A NEW CHURCH

Movement on Foot among the People of the First Baptist To Build.

THE COMMITTEE IS AT WORK

Dr. Hawthorne Thinks the New Church Will Be Built—Will Know in Three Weeks.

It is entirely probable that Atlanta may soon have a magnificent addition to her large number of splendid churches. There is a movement on foot in this direction among the members of the First Baptist church, and while the matter has been kept very quiet yet certain it is that Dr. Hawthorne's following is contemplating such an edifice and that movement is fast taking on a definite shape.

The idea of building a new First Baptist church is not a new one, in fact the movement has been agitated for the last twelve years. This congregation is one of the largest in the city, and the edifice is entirely too small to accommodate the hundreds of people who assemble every week to hear the eloquent sermons of Dr. Hawthorne.

The basement is not large enough to seat all the members of the Sunday school, and hundreds of churches have been turned away to find seats. It is a common occurrence to see the aisles blocked with chairs, and the seats of ladies standing in the vestibules.

Dr. Hawthorne has been pastor of the First Baptist church since 1880, and during this entire period he has been assiduously working for a larger place of worship for his people. He stated yesterday to a reporter that he was growing tired of the delay. He said that his congregation required three times the present accommodations, and that they must have a new church.

The exhortation of Rev. Sam Jones at the tabernacle on the last day of his services seems to have had its effect. It will be remembered that he made an earnest appeal to the people not to allow Dr. Hawthorne to leave Atlanta, and that in order to keep him it is necessary to erect a larger church. The members of the First Baptist are exhibiting the fact that they want their pastor to remain, and have gone to work in earnest to erect a new building.

A building committee consisting of some of the leading members of the church, and they have charge of the entire matter. They are making a thorough canvass of the city, and have selected a small block, a good location and laying plans for the new edifice. This committee has not as yet made a report, but Dr. Hawthorne stated yesterday that he thought they would have something to report in a few days.

He had no idea of the report that will be made, but he is sure that it will be a good one. He said that he would not be satisfied until he had seen the plan of the church, and that he would not be satisfied until he had seen the plan of the church, and that he would not be satisfied until he had seen the plan of the church.

IN THE CHURCHES YESTERDAY.

All the Churches Were Well Attended and Able Sermons Delivered.

All the churches were well attended yesterday. The day was perfect for churchgoers and all the pulpits were filled.

Merritts Avenue Church.

At Merritts avenue church the morning sermon was by Rev. Peter A. Heard, the pastor.

The text was Matthew xxi, 15 and 16: "And when the chief priests and scribes saw the wonderful things that he did and said unto him, How canst thou these things? He answered them, saying, Ye have said, 'Ye shall not say, 'Hosanna to the son of David; but ye shall say, 'Blessed be he that cometh in the name of the Lord.'"

The sermon was a very powerful one, and the church was well filled.

St. Louis Church.

The St. Louis church was also well attended yesterday. The sermon was by Rev. J. J. Krom.

The sermon was a very powerful one, and the church was well filled.

St. Paul Church.

The St. Paul church was also well attended yesterday. The sermon was by Rev. J. J. Krom.

The sermon was a very powerful one, and the church was well filled.

St. James Church.

The St. James church was also well attended yesterday. The sermon was by Rev. J. J. Krom.

The sermon was a very powerful one, and the church was well filled.

St. John Church.

The St. John church was also well attended yesterday. The sermon was by Rev. J. J. Krom.

The sermon was a very powerful one, and the church was well filled.

St. Peter Church.

The St. Peter church was also well attended yesterday. The sermon was by Rev. J. J. Krom.

Dr. Kendall announced for his text, "Cast thy bread upon the waters; for thou shalt find it after many days." Ecclesiastes, ii, 1. He said the custom of sowing grain when the Nile overflowed the valleys of Egypt was the source of the text. No return seemed possible, but the retiring waters left the grain imbedded in the richest soil and reaped abundant harvests.

This was a beautiful promise to God, and the duty of humanity to the duty of sowing the seed of truth and of giving man's benefit, not God's. Unless there is a reward for Christian liberty the Bible is not true. The promises of the Bible, the history of the church, the experience of individuals all prove that the liberal soul shall be made fat.

But the application of this general truth should be made at present to the needs of our church.

After some touching illustrations he said it was necessary to raise $1,500 for church purposes, and he felt confident it would be done. Dr. Kendall then called on Colonel W. S. Thomson to state the details of the campaign which he had been making for the church, and the collection called for. The sum of $1,500 was raised, and the church was closed with the evening service. This church has reaped a wonderful harvest.

Second Baptist Church.

Dr. McDonald preached at the morning service and at night. Rev. F. B. Bell preached to a good congregation. This was the first sermon in the series of meetings for the pastor who he assisted by Dr. Bell. His text was Acts i, 14: "These all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication, waiting for the promise of the Father, and the assurance of the Holy Spirit, which he had promised them."

The pastor, Dr. McDonald, in announcing these services, said that he was a source of special gratitude to him that the Lord had given him the heart of Dr. Bell to accept the invitation to assist in these meetings, and that his unbounded confidence and Christian love.

POLICE BOARD TO MEET.

Regular Meeting Will Be Held This Evening at the Station.

The police board, consisting of the board of police commissioners will be held this evening in the room of the commissioners at the station house.

There is but little to be considered with the exception of routine work and the reports of standing committees. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock.

CHARGED WITH GAMING.

A Sextet of Gamblers Arrested Late Yesterday Afternoon.

Six negroes charged with gaming, were arrested yesterday afternoon and placed in the county jail.

The arrests were accomplished by County Officers Osburn, Harrington, Shepard, Pool and Connally. The negroes are Andy Harris, Frank Henry, Henry Hopkins, Frank Jeffers, Randall Williams and Will Saterwhite.

The negroes are said to have been caught in the act and would have escaped had not the officers surrounded them and appeared unawares.

SOCIETY GOSSIP.

The announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Oma Daniel to Mr. N. E. Hogan, of this city, has been a surprise to the many friends of this popular young couple.

Our friends lived in Atlanta for a number of years, and by her many lovable qualities has endeared herself to all with whom she has come in contact.

Mr. Hogan formerly lived in Atlanta and his many friends here will congratulate him on his good fortune. The marriage will take place in the city of Atlanta, on the 15th of May, at 10 o'clock.

Last Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock Miss Julia J. Miller, of this city, was married to Mr. George W. Miller at the residence of the bride's parents, 281 East Hunter street. The bridesmaids were Miss Katie Hogan, sister of the bride, and Miss L. White. The groomsmen were Mr. Will Muller and Mr. Charles Wilson, of Augusta.

The wedding was a very beautiful one, and the guests were very numerous. The bride and groom were very happy, and the wedding was a very successful one.

Miss Julia Hogan is the youngest daughter of Mr. J. W. Hogan, master mechanic of the Georgia railroad.

Captain and Mrs. Robert J. Lowry and Mr. Joseph Thompson, recently left for New York, where they will spend the next month.

The Sisters of St. Joseph of Loretto convent to express their very cordial thanks to the members of the Hibernian Association for the use of their hall for the entertainment recently given for the benefit of the ladies and gentlemen who participated in the entertainment and to friends for their liberal patronage.

Tarheel Republicans Split.

Charlotte, N. C., April 12.—(Special.)—The largest and most enthusiastic republican convention since '76 was held in this city yesterday.

Fifteen out of 162 delegates present were turned down by the committee on credentials. There was a division in the ranks, and forty-nine were bolted.

The regular convention favored McKinley for president, Russell for governor and Pritchard for United States senator.

The bolting element declared for Dockery for governor and elected a delegation to the state and county fairs with the popular and patriotic outburst claimed to carry seventy-four delegates.

WAS A NOTABLE DAY

Striking Ceremonies at Friendship
Church Yesterday.

AN INTERESTING PROGRAMME

Fourteenth Anniversary of Rev. E. R.
Carter's Pastorate Fittingly Celebrated.

Yesterday closed a notable week of celebration at the Friendship Baptist church.
The members of this church, and, in fact,
all interested in the welfare and progress of the colored race have made the past week a memorable one, full of interest and benefits from first to last.

Papers have been read by some of the brightest colored men in the country. Orations have been delivered by some of our white citizens as well as the colored. Original papers and poems by members of the different colleges have been read and music that seldom hears has been rendered.

The Atlanta University Glee Club attended all the meetings and sang such songs as only members of the colored race can sing.

One of the most interesting features of the week's programme was the chorus by the deacons on Wednesday.

It was the old time stirring music that carries a world of feeling in every note and takes one back to the old plantation days when the sweet voice of the darkies bore worlds of contentment in their melancholy notes, and the music of nature itself found voice in their simple chants.

The occasion of this celebration is the fourteenth pastoral anniversary of the Rev.
E. R. Carter, as leader of Friendship Baptist church.

The history of this organization is well known—how it had its birth in a box car and grew till it now owns the valuable piece of property it now occupies. The Rev. Carter is a wonderful man and has been a power among the colored people.
The exercises just held were a fitting tribute to his worth as a citizen and his power as a leader.

Three meetings were held at his church yesterday and the exercises marked a new era in the progress of the colored race.
The programme rendered was as follows:

IS A SAD CASE.

A Poor White Girl in a Bad Fix at the Station.
A poor white girl, by the name of Nell Scott, was given a bunk at police headquarters Saturday night and is in a pitiable condition. She says she is from Not-ley, a small town near Murphy, N. C., and came to Atlanta for the purpose of getting work.

She applied at the Oricle hotel on Fourth Prayer street Saturday night for lodging, and as she was going up the stairs, was attacked with a spasm. An officer was called and the unfortunate girl taken to police headquarters, where she was attended by Dr. Wright. The girl is undoubtedly unbalanced, and is in a strange place without money and without friends. She says her father bought her the ticket to Atlanta with his full consent, and that she once worked in the woolen mills at Knoxville, Tenn.

ON A SERIOUS CHARGE.

Sam Noble Will Be Tried Monday for Cutting Abe Conyers.

Sam Noble, a white negro who has been at the stockade about three weeks on a charge of disorderly conduct, was brought to the police station last night by Officer W. F. Wilkey on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

About three weeks ago Noble became involved in a quarrel with a negro by the name of Abe Conyers and nearly cut Conyers's head off with a knife.
Conyers was sent to the hospital, where his wound was dressed, and Noble was compelled to wait the recovery of Conyers.
Last Wednesday Conyers swore out a charge for his assault on the charge of assault with intent to murder, and the case will be tried before Justice Landrum
Monday.

SHERIFF DOUTHIE ROBBED.

Daring Work of Footpads on South
Pryor Street.

L. M. Douthie, a deputy sheriff of Murray county, was held up and robbed by three daring footpads on Loyd street, just opposite the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Friday night. The robbers secured $15.00 from their victim, and at a late hour last night had not been caught.
Deputy Sheriff Douthie has been in Atlanta two days on business, and was leisurely walking down Loyd street alone when a big white man grabbed him by the collar and threw him to the ground. Two negroes then proceeded to go through his pockets and took everything he had. They then made away with their booty, and Mr.
Douthie, greatly stunned by the shock, went to his room and did not report the case until about 10 o'clock last Saturday morning. The officers are quietly working on the case and think they will capture the whole gang today.

MEETINGS TO CONTINUE.

The Revival at the First Baptist Accomplishing Much Good.

The revival meetings that have been conducted during the past week at the First Baptist church by Dr. Hawthorne and Rev. A. W. Lamar have continued until next Saturday night. It was originally intended to run the meetings only one week, but owing to the increased interest manifested Dr. Lamar has been persuaded to stay over.

Dr. Hawthorne stated yesterday that while the attendance at the meetings had not been as large as was expected, yet great good had been accomplished.
About forty penitents have professed conversion, and twenty have been received into the church, of whom twelve were baptized last night.

Rev. Mr. Lamar, who is a very forcible and eloquent speaker, has been doing the preaching, and Dr. Hawthorne the outside work. Larger congregations have attended this week, and it is hoped that a large accession to the church will be made next Sunday.

HE STOLE $20.

Bold Act of a Young Negro Boy
Saturday.

A negro boy about eighteen years of age went into the grocery store of L. S. Edgerly, corner of Fraser and Peachtree streets, Saturday night, deliberately emptied the contents of the money drawer into his pocket in the presence of several people and walked out.

The young thief was buying some cheese and while the clerk was cutting it for him the youngster decided that he would rather have money than cheese, and now he is about $20 in for his trouble.
The alarm was at once sent to headquarters, but before the officers arrived the kid had skipped and has not as yet been caught.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Ready-to-Wear

Suits--$10, $12, $15, $18.

Commercial tailors can produce equal work for much less money than a merchant tailor has to charge—because of the subdivision of labor. There are no tedious and time-consuming fitting and meas-urings—the garments are cut by scientific scale;
then certain tailors seam them; another set makes the collars; another makes button-holes—each man becoming so expert that he can do his part by heart.
And that accounts for the stylish Suits we show at modest prices. High-priced labor, but economically employed.
